

From: Malcolm Boura
To: 'microsoft.atr(a)usdoj.gov'
Date: 1/28/02 5:32am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I have been following the DoJ's interactions with Microsoft with some perplexity. I thought the USA was run by an elected government but it would appear that if a company is big enough then it is allowed to use illegal practices to maintain an illegal monopoly. To be blunt, the DoJ is bringing the USA into disrepute. Or perhaps the explanation is that world monopoly, and the abuse of that monopoly, is acceptable when it is a US company?

Malcolm Boura
Senior Software Engineer
Pace Micro Technology PLC